

Criminals and Terrorists in Partnership

Unholy alliance

Edited by
Helena Carrapico, Daniela Irrera and
Bill Tupman

Contents

Citation Information	vii
Notes on Contributors	ix
Introduction – Transnational organised crime and terrorism: different peas, same pod? Helena Carrapico, Daniela Irrera and Bill Tupman	1
1. Catch Me If You Can: or how policy networks help tackle the crime–terror nexus Inês Sofia Oliveira	7
2. Transnational organised crime and terrorism: Nexus needing a human security framework Marinko Bobic	29
3. Categorising the crime–terror nexus in the European Union Tamara Makarenko and Michael Mesquita	47
4. Jihadi networks and the involvement of vulnerable immigrants: reconsidering the ideological and pragmatic value Jasper L. de Bie, Christianne J. de Poot and Joanne P. van der Leun	63
5. Breaking the nexus: conceptualising ‘illicit sovereigns’. A study of the relation between the Sicilian Mafia and the Italian state Norma Rossi	87
6. Islamist movements in the Fergana Valley: a new threat assessment approach Viktoria Akchurina and Anita Lavorgna	108
7. Crime, terror and the state in Central Asia David Lewis	125
8. The nexus between terrorism and product counterfeiting in the United States Brandon A. Sullivan, Steven M. Chermak, Jeremy M. Wilson and Joshua D. Freilich	145
Index	167